

Talent, culture, and ethics are all necessary ingredients in the biotech recipe for success

December 17, 2020

Our CEO, Faraz Ali, spoke with Peter Kaplan for an article in STAT to discuss the core values that are essential for a biotech company's success. Faraz outlined the ways in which strong ethics and the right moral compass are crucial for creating a culture that empowers all employees. Our mission: find talented people who want to do the right thing.

Read More